Last Thursday, our class organised a culture market. Each group prepared a food poster and introduced a country. Leo's group presented Italy. Noor's group described Sweden. They used English for their presentations and practised a few Swedish words too. Maya prepared a poster about ingredients in a homemade dessert. Visitors listened to the groups and asked questions. I tried a crispy appetiser, but I didn't taste the spicy dish. At the end, we thanked the visitors and cleaned the room together.
